Farmers Invited To Produce Meeting Here Tuesday Night

A great many farmers from Columbus, Horry and Brunswick counties are expected to attend a meeting at the Tabor City school auditorium next Tuesday night, March 13, at 7:30 to hear a discussion of the produce market prospects this year.

A Tabor City committee has been at work for some time in an effort to reestablish some of the truck crop market here that have been inactive in recent years.

Corbett Canning Company in Tabor City has already announced its intention of buying tomatoes, cucumbers, okra, lima beans and peppers for both processing and the fresh market.

Ben Gardner of the Hollander & Ellis Company, currently in Pompano, Fla., has indicated a desire to buy cucumbers and perhaps other truck crops this season. Other produce buyers are also interested in buying here if adequate acreage is planted.

The primary purpose of Tuesday night's meeting is to find out if farmers are interested in planting truck crops this year.

A representative from Corbett Canning Company will be on hand to discuss commodities they plan to buy and Mr. Gardner will be here to discuss cucumber acreage. His company has stated that they would not come here unless at least 150 acres of cucumbers were available.

The local Young Farmers Club has expressed interest in the project and agriculture teachers here have extended invitations to all other similar clubs in the area to attend the Tuesday meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Spivey recently vacationed in Florida. They were accompanied by her sister, Mrs. J. R. Inman, and Mr. Inman of Fairmont.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Boswell and Mrs. Janie B. Bell spent the weekend in Greensboro where they visited Mr. and Mrs. John W. Penn and Miss Effie Mae Britton.

Nope, no one goofed. They are swapping five dollars for one Friday and Saturday in Tabor City.

It's the mammoth "Lucky Buck" days being sponsored by the Tabor City Merchants Association.

Ben L. Nesmith, Jr., president of the Association, announced 25 of the 100 winning serial numbers this morning. Earlier in the week, the serial numbers from 100 dollar bills were recorded and put into circulation. These bills were designated "Lucky bucks." In releasing the numbers of 25, Nesmith urged people in this area to participate in the "Lucky buck" promotion.

The entire list of winning serial numbers, there are 100 of them, can be found in any Association member's store on Friday morning.

Persons who have dollar bills with serial numbers that match the ones on the list will be entitled to their choice of five dollars in merchandise at any store participating in the "Lucky buck" weekend.

In addition to the "Lucky bucks," local merchants have made an all-out effort to give customers the most sensational bargains ever offered during a local trade promotion.

"This is one time every merchant is offering solid values at prices that in many cases are below the actual cost of the merchandise. Anyone who trades in Tabor City this weekend will have fun searching for a 'Lucky buck' and will definitely save money on his purchases," said a spokesman for the Merchants Association.

On the front page of the TRIBUNE is a list of 25 "Lucky buck" serial numbers. Check your dollar bills and see if you have one with any of these serial numbers. If so, save it and swap it for five dollars in trade Friday or Saturday. Remember, there are 75 more lucky serial numbers and the list will be posted Friday in Tabor City stores.

For further details see the advertising on the front page of the second section in this issue of the TRIBUNE.
